A flat panel display device, such as a liquid crystal display or a light emitting diode (LED) display device, is generally provided with a front case, and a display panel is housed in the front case, the display panel including a display area, which displays an image, and a non-display area, which does not display the image. In addition, a bezel is provided in the non-display area. The flat panel display device is configured so that a front face, which is a face of the front case, is shielded in a state in which the front case covers the display panel and the non-display area. For example, a backlight unit of a liquid crystal display device is provided in a back portion of a liquid crystal display panel. When a display surface of the liquid crystal display panel is viewed, the backlight unit of the liquid crystal display device is designed to be hidden in a state in which a front face of the liquid crystal display panel is disposed forward, and a display of an image is achieved on the display surface of the liquid crystal display panel. In order to reduce power consumption, Patent Document 1 discloses a light source device of a flat panel display device. The light source device of the flat panel display device is provided with a plurality of light emitting diodes (LEDs) and a light guide body. The light source device is disposed in an edge portion of the display panel, and a light guide face of the light guide body is directed to an area of the display surface of the display panel, which is not covered by the front face. A conventional flat panel display device is further provided with a front case and a back case. The front case is provided on a front face of the liquid crystal display panel, and the
