Arnaud. Friday, May 27. In honor of FIFA 10 and the FIFA World Cup . Download FIFA World Cup 2010 PC Game. Developed by EA Sports on PC, PlayStation 3, Xbox, PlayStation 2, Wii, Game Boy Advance. Based on the official rules and regulations of the FIFA World Cup 2010 .Q: iOS 9 Spinner We're using Firebase for authentication and authorization. We have a few ViewControllers and ViewModels that manage some data (amongst other things). We've been trying to introduce a Spinner as a placeholder in several of our views. We have an app that is being developed for iOS 9 and the Spinner has not been added to our Storyboard and Xcode by default. I have used the Spinner that was added to Xcode in iOS 8 for testing and to make sure it works. However, that same Spinner has been removed from iOS 8 and no replacement has been added to iOS 9. Is there a way to add a Spinner to our Storyboard in iOS 9 or do we have to change our implementation and do a few little adjustments ourselves? A: I found a way to do it (while waiting for an answer) I created a UIActivityIndicatorView. I found a nice tutorial for this here: They provide a nice little class that helps us to add that animation to a UIView. Q: Continuous image of a metric space is a metric space Let $(X,d)$ be a metric space and $f: X \to X$ be a continuous function. Prove that $f$ induces a new metric on $X$ and that the resulting metric space is equal to the image of $(X,d)$ under the continuous function $f$. I'm not sure how to even start this proof. I tried looking up this question but all the proofs I found involved showing that the function $f$ was actually injective or surjective or isometric (I don't think that's what I'm supposed to be trying to prove). Is there something else that I should be trying to use? A: Recall
