Q: How to get all of events from ActiveMQ? I need to monitor the availability of messages sent to ActiveMQ server, I need to get the status of every message and display it in the web-application. Is there any way to do this? Is there any tool available in ActiveMQ for this purpose? A: There are so many tools you could use for this, you could use JMS Client configuration (using the net.salesforce.activemq.framework.jms.activemq.ActiveMQJMSConnectionFactory) or the ActiveMQ Artemis Console to watch the situation, or you could even use the activemq-console to check the situation. But here's a really simple approach: activemq-console --broker.list 127.0.0.1 this will list all of the clients currently registered on the broker. as an alternative you could use jconsole. Delivery vehicles are known which comprise a chassis supported on wheels and which can be driven along a prepared track by a powered drive. A hoist is mounted at the front of the vehicle and can be raised or lowered by means of a control device and a motor which is driven by the drive and is transmitted via a traction chain or belt to a brake drum of the hoist. When the chassis is a trailer or semi-trailer, the drive is usually in the form of an internal combustion engine in the vehicle itself, the drive transmitting its power via the output shaft of the engine to the hoist via the traction drive device. The output shaft of the engine is usually connected to the input shaft of a transmission unit which is installed on the vehicle, and the output shaft of the transmission unit passes through the chassis to the motor of the hoist. The hoist comprises a wheeled carriage mounted on the input shaft of the transmission unit and driven by the motor via a chain, and a drum which is rotatably supported on this wheeled carriage and on which the hoisting chain is laid, so that a bucket is raised when the hoist is activated. Since the hoist is itself a large and heavy component of the delivery vehicle, it is important to ensure that the drive device is reliable and that it operates in the correct manner. In addition, a hoist requires its own supporting structure, which must be balanced, and it must be possible for a component requiring maintenance to be removed from the hoist. Finally,
